Valuation

- Analysis of Property Risks
- Valuation Approach
- Valuation Using the Income Method
- Summary of Value

Long-term contract risks
The lack or limitation of long-term contracts greatly affects the value of the Property, especially the properties listed under REITs. Where the existence of long-term contracts gives stability to the income and thus the value. While the absence of such contracts gives fluctuation in rental prices and income and thus affects the final value.

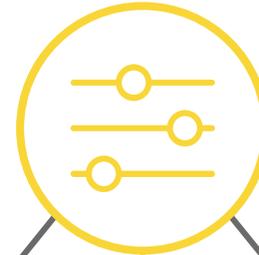

Competition risk

The large supply of real estate goods leads to competition in prices offered to the consumer. We find this clear in the real estate market, as the increase in units and exhibitions offered in the market and the entry of new competitors with products will lead to a decrease in prices and services, and thus a decrease in the price of the final Property .

Revenue security risk

Since the realization of revenues is the main factor in determining the value of the Property , any change in revenues as a result of different market conditions will affect the value of the Property .

Regulatory and legislative risks
The regulatory, legal or legislative environment may witness some changes that may affect the value of the Property, such as the emergence of municipal legislation allowing or prohibiting activities in specific areas, or reducing or increasing the number of floors in the surrounding area, which affects the final value of the Property .

Economic risk

The state's macroeconomic conditions may affect the real estate market in general, such as inflation rates, liquidity, interest rates, financing costs, taxes, and the movement of local and global stock markets, as changing some or all of these influences affects the real estate market.

Valuation Methods Used

- When selecting the best approach to assess the value of the Subject Property, we have taken into consideration the information provided by the Client, the current condition of the property and our own analysis of the local market conditions. When determining the market value of the Subject Property, we have used the following methods and approaches:

Income Approach (Discounted Cash Flows)

- The income method provides an indicator of the value by converting the future cash flows into a single present value. According to this method, the value of the asset is determined using the value of revenues or cash flows or cost savings from the asset. The discount rate is usually reached by analysing the suitable market and development transactions. We are also in communication with real estate agents and local investors to gauge the sensitivity of the figures.

Key Assumptions in the Discounted Cash Flow Method:

Revenues

- According to the information provided by the Client, the annual gross income of the residential compound is SAR 16,000,000, with a rent escalation of 5% every five years for a period of 15 years, starting on 24.02.2019 and continuing for 15 years. The income for the remaining years will be assessed based on the following income schedule:

Year	Income
Years 1-2	16,000,000
Years 3-5	11,520,000
Year 6	12,320,000
Years 7-10	16,800,000
Years 11-15	17,640,000

Cap Rate

- A cap rate of 8.75% is applied.

Discount Rate

- Based on our understanding of similar properties in the area of the property, and taking into consideration the site features, area, uses, terrain and supply and demand, we have applied a discount rate of 11.25%.

Inflation Rate.

- In respect of the cash flow of the project, an inflation rate of 2.50% is applied.
